Former students of Anjuman College of Engineering recently shared their success stories and struggle to motivate and inspire their juniors through interactive sessions on the college premises.

INSPIRATIONAL TALES

We saw the existing students listening to their seniors in rapt attention during the session. Happy to see their alumni sharing their inspirational success stories, principal of the college, Dr Sajid Anwar said, "Our ex-students have attained great success in their respective professional lives. So it was important to hold special lectures to motivate our existing students. Our alumni shared their experiences and gave insights on various professional arenas one can explore after graduation. These sessions have inspired collegians for sure."

NOSTALGIA RULED

Coming back to their college after a long time, former students met all their teachers and of course, nostalgia ruled supreme. Former students took a tour of the campus, went inside their classrooms and recalled the college days. "Social media played a vital role in bringing our ex-students of all the batches together. Many of them are working or staying abroad but it was great they made time for this get together," said the principal. In order to make new memories, alumni clicked many selfies with their teachers and bonded some more.

School's out, Memories past, but our friendship will last

Recently, Anjuman College of Engineering and Technology organised a grand alumni meet, where more than 500 alumni were invited for the event. The idea behind organising this meet was to know how and what their excipients were doing and also to provide some motivation to their current students.

The alumni members were welcomed with red roses followed by a formal interaction with the Principal and the faculty members. The seniors (alumni) sitting with their old college friends noticed many changes happened in the college and were reliving their olden days.

Some of came prepared with the documentary about the college and their moments in the college. Their documentary was displayed on the projector during the event. After the formal session all the alumni gathered on the college ground where short entertainment programme was planned by the current students. The stage was open for the alumni if they wanted to share or say something about the college life and their anjuman moments. Some of alumni members stepped forward to share their moments in the college. As all met their friends and classmates after a long time, clicking photos was the obvious activity many photos and selfies were clicked at this grand alumni meet.

The event concluded with the group photograph, where the batch of 2006 to 2016 gathered with the faculty members and the principal. After having the photographs according to the batch the alumni gathered with their college friends for the dinner. Overall it was a refreshing and nostalgic event for all of them. They took back memories of lifetime with them.
